

NATIVE AMERICAN LAND HOLDINGS IN KENTUCKY AT STATEHOOD (June 1, 1792)

On October 19, 1818, the Chickasaw Indian Nation relinquished all lands east of the Mississippi River & north of the Mississippi state line in exchange for $300,000.00 at the rate of $20,000.00 annually for 15 years. The state of Kentucky was enlarged by 2,000 sq. miles; the state of Tennessee was enlarged by 6,000 sq. miles. The treaty was ratified by the U.S. Senate & confirmed by Pres. James Monroe on January 7, 1819. The Kentucky portion of the land acquisition is called the "Jackson Purchase". (ref: "Kentucky Encyclopedia")

Acquired under the October 25, 1805, Treaty of Tellico. The Cherokee Indian Nation ceded 1,086 square miles of land south of the Cumberland River and 7,032 square miles in Tennessee to the United States in exchange for $14,000.00 in cash & goods and an annuity of $3,000.00. (ref: "Kentucky Encyclopedia") Note: The cession may have been limited to portions of the above counties.
